a large eight-page campaign paper, containing the news of the week, including sketches of Hayes and Wheeler, is now ready for mailing. It is the best paper to send to friends in the country.

IF THE HON. JOHN C. NEW should resign the Tressurership, would it not be a good idea to reappoint F. E. Spinner?

HAYES beat Thurman for the Governor ship of O lio, and Thurman is said to be the strongest Democrat in the Buckeye State. Thurman would make a good candidate at St. Louis--for our side.

PRESIDENT GRANT never made a more popular appointment than that of Senator Morrill to be Secretary of the Treasury. The almost unanimous voice of the press, without regard to party, is in approval of it, and the news of his acceptance will be hailed with wide-spread satisfaction.

THE talk about Hendricks not accepting the second place on the St. Louis ticket is sheer nonsense. If the Democracy demand it of him, as they possibly will, he will, as a well-disciplined member of the party, and not an unambitious man, take the place allotted to him without a grumble.

HENDRICKS was acclaimed at the fraudulent Mecklenburg Centennial celebration as the Southern candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination. It appears now, however, that the hoorah for him on that occasion was a mere empty compliment, and that even the North Carolina delegation to St. Louis will not support him. Truly the ways of the chivalry are past finding out.

THE New York World has information that ex-Cougressman Willard, of Vermont, will be appointed to be Assistant Secretary of the Treasury under Secretary Morrill. Whether this be true or not, it is an ascertained fact that the new Secretary will be allowed to make his own selections, and that in so doing he will take good care that mone but true and tried Republicans shall be appointed or retained in office.

MR. MIKE DOUGHERTY, a "diligait" to St. Louis from Boston, passed through the city yesterday, and pronounced himself in favor of Gen. Hancock for President and Senator John P. Jones, of Nevada, for Vice President. It made no difference with him that Senator Jones is a Republican be wants a hard-money man, and nothing else. Verily the average New at all scrupulous about his political con-

THE special committee having charge of the investigation into the alleged sale of a cadetship by Representative Hayes, of Ala., have taken all the testimony in the case, and have virtually agreed upon a report exculpating him. The delay in presenting the report does injustice to Mr. Hayes, and suggests the idea that it is being withheld for partisan reasons. Perhaps the best way to settle this matter will be to introduce a resolution calling on the committee for an immediate report

THE proposed meeting of the Republicans of the District of Columbia to ratify the Cincinnati nominations, to be held in the National theatre next week, promises to be one of the most successful political demonstrations ever held in this community. The preparatory arrangements are under the supervision of active and publicspirited citizens, who will spare no expense or pains to make the affair worthy of the importance of the occasion and a credit to the District.

THE eyes of the nation are directed to St. Louis, and the gossips are beginning to speculate widely regarding the Democratic nominations. In Washington the opinion prevails that the ticket will be Hancock and Hendricks. Tilden has a number of ardent supporters who predict his success; but the cooler judgment of experienced politicians is that both Hancock and Tilden will be slaughtered, and that some man not so prominent as either one of them now seems to be will be chosenperhaps Seymour, Thurman or Parker!

ARE THOSE real diamonds? asked a greenback Congressman of a hard-money jeweler. "No," was the reply, "but they resemble them so nearly that none but an "expert can tell the difference. Practi-"cally they are just as good." "But if I " wish to use them for collateral to raise "the gold, what then?" "Why, then they " are no better than irredeemable green-" backs." said the jeweler. "For display "they are good representatives of jewels " but in real intrinsic value they repre-" sert only the cost of the material in "which they are set." "But why do you "charge so high for them ?" "Simply be-" cause the fools are not all dead." ders scratched his head and left.

WE PRINT elsewhere the so-called re port of the minority of the House Committee of the District of Columbia. The committee consists of eleven members. only five of whom signed the chairman's report. Judge Cate refused to approve of it. The report of the minority is approved by the Republican members, and we understand that it also meets the tacit ap proval of Judge Cate, Democrat, and Judge Hardenbergh, Independent, This, in reality, makes the majority of the committee. We ask of the citizens a careful perusal of this report. It is a clear statement of the facts elicited by the investigations of the committee, and their honest application to the subject considered. It should be stated, however, that while the enemies of the District Commissioner: had free access to the committee-room for the purpose of maligning and traducing them and the board of sudit, the latter were never permitted a hearing. These facts, when taken in connection with the exoneration of both boards by the report, speak volumes for the honesty of the District officers, and clearly demonstrate the unfairness of the chairman of the committee. His stump speech, misnamed a report, was, it will be remembered, of the most prejudiced and vituperatively extravagant character. It could hardly have been more abusive and unfair if it had been prepared by Columbus Alexander and Bob Christy themselves.

JOHN SHERMAN, jr., a nephew of Senator Sherman, of Ohio, leaves Washington in a day or two to assume the duties of United States marshal for the territory of New Mexico, to which office he was recently appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate. Mr. Sherman, during his temporary residence in Washington, earned the good will and respect of those with whom he came in contact, both in his business and social relations. As a good R:publican, a strong Hayes man, and hailing from Ohio, he cannot fail to meet with a cordial reception from his fellow-partisans in New Mexico, and we shall expect to hear good tidings of him in the future.

THE New York Journal of Commerce a Democratic organ, says of the present sham House of Representatives: "The passage of the bounty bill, calling for the expanditure of many millions of doltars, by a vote of 140 to 40, reveals the hollowness of their vaunted professions to be considered champions of economy. This bill is the old fraud which has been before successive Conbut with demagogues who sought to flatte them for electioneering ends. * * * If th House are not in earnest in the vote of Tues-day, then they have committed a paltry place of trickery—a practical joke wholly out of place at this time, when seriousness and gravity are needed in the management of prayity are needed in the management of public affairs. Whether they mean business or are only fishing for the soldier and salior vote, they equally deserve rebuke. The soldiers and sailors do not ask for it, and do not expect it. * * * The only lobby work-ing for it is composed of claim agents, who have received assignments, for nominal sums, of rights which might accrue under the bill it

THE Baltimore Sun says that Gov

Hayes was a member of Congress in 1866, when the salary of members was raised from $3,000 to $5,000 by being meanly tacked upon the soldiers' bounty bill, and that Mr. Hayes drew his back pay. The compensation of Congressmen was increased from $3,000 to $5,000 per annum by the act of July 28, 1866, but mileage was reduced from forty to twenty cents a mile by the same act, so that the total payment to some Congressmen was actually reduced. But the Sun purposely omits to state the fact that Gov. Hayes voted at two different times against the passage of the bill in the House because the Senate had added the section increasing the pay of Congressmen, and the bill only passed finally by the vote of 51 to 50. The amendment increasing the salary of Congressmen from $3,000 to $5,000 originated with a Democratic Senator, G. R. Riddle, of Delaware, and was vigorously supported at every stage in the Senate by Hon. T. A. Hend ricks, a prominent candidate for the nomination at St. Louis, as also by Senators Ruckslew Davis and other Democratic leaders, all of whom drew their pay as allowed under the retroactive provisions of the law. Mr. Hendricks attempted to have milesge continued until the following Congress at forty cents per mile, and Mr. Davis argued in favor of the original amendment. as offered by Senator Riddle, which continued the mileage at forty cents indefinitely. In the House, one of the most constant supporters of the increased-pay amendment, who voted for it "early and often," is chairman of the Committee on Appropriations of the present House, Samuel J. Randall. If there is any comfort in this record of facts to the Democ racy, they are welcome to it.

THE prospect now is that there will be no dead-lock between the two Houses upon the passage of the appropriations. The most enlightened of the Democrats ssy that they have made their record for economy by the cutting down of the amounts in the House, and if the Senate England Democrat is a mystery, and not refuses to agree, that they will submit to a reasonable compromise without factious opposition. Mr. Randall, who has been the most obstinate, and Mr. Holman both now agree that they will feel very safe that no money appropriated will be mis applied by the new Secretary of the Treas ury. They have the fullest confidence in the integrity of Mr. Morrill, and knowing also that he is a practical economist of the strictest sort, they will hurry to a conclusion, and pass the bills in such shape as will permit the wheels of the Government to continue in motion. It is one of the first duties of the Congress to provide the necessary revenues and appropriate the money requisite to enable the Executive to enforce existing laws. A Congress that fails to do this falls short of the performance of its sworn duties, and will be held to a strict accountability by the people. If the laws are defective, they should be modified. If the rules of either House prevent the modification of existing laws by the appropriation bills, then such modifications should be by special enactments or by such change in the rules as will allow it to be done in the appropriation bills. The latter method has been found pernicious. The Republicans changed the rules in order to compel all legislation to stand or fall upon its especial merits, regardless of other and independent interests. The Democratic House has attempted to undo this salutary method and engraft special legislation upon the appropriation bills with the hope of compeling the Senate to accept obnoxious legislation under the menace of losing the appropriations. The people cannot fail to see the unfairness of this strategy and to place the responsibility where it properly belongs.

NATIONAL HONOR.

What has Sir Edward Thornton done to you?" said a friend to us vesterday. that you wish to have him furnished with passports?" "Nothing in the world," was the response, "but here he is the embodiment of the British Government, which has just insulted the United States by flatly refusing to obey the stipulations of an important treaty. It is a treaty which has been conformed to by both parties for upward of thirty years. Now, Great Britain, with three of our notorious criminals in her hands, the surrender of whom we have demanded under the conditions of the treaty, refuses to obey the compact unless we practically modify the treaty by giving guarantees that we will do what we have always hitherto done without any such guaranties. This we hold to be an attempt to exact from us conditions which would practically amount to a new compact under a menace that is unfriendly. It is conduct both unworthy of Great Britain and unfriendly to us. In the case of Winslow, the guaranties demanded are such as we cannot well give if we desired to give them. His offense was committed against the law of a State, and he is smenable to a State court, in the "rules and practice of which the United

he would be tried for the offense for which he is indicted and for which his sur- nder was asked, it is not becoming to be United States Government to on guaranty what it could not control. Neither would it compart with its dignity to give guaranties not required by the terms and stipulations of the treaty under which his surrender was demanded. While we have the highest respect and esteem for Sir Edward Thornton as a man, we cannot conceive of any consistency that will admit of a continuance of friendly diplomatic relations with his Government until it apologizes for its recent infraction of its treaty obligations, and places itself in a friendly attitude by the deliv-'ery of our criminals that have already been demanded. How does the conduct of Earl Derby in these cases compare with that of Mr. Seward in those of Mason and Slidell? They were taken by one of our men-of-war from a Brit ish vessel, but they were taken illegally and in violation of freaty stipulations. They were imprisoned in violation of international law. Mr. Seward promptly ordered their release and safe delivery to British hospitality. They were guilty of the highest crime known to governments-treason. We had them in custody. We could have tried them by courtmartial and hanged them without any more flagrant infraction of our treaty stipulations than Great Britain has just been guilty of toward us. And the temper of our people just at that time was so excitable and their passions so blood thirsty that the administration of President Lincoln would have been upheld and sustained in such action. A treaty is a compact which is not to be lightly broken, no matter what subject it relates to, and if we are to tolerate the in fraction of our compacts with Great Britain by her whenever the caprice of Earl Derby deems fit without any further notice being taken of it than a simple cessation of that particular article or clause, what safety or guarantee shall we have that any of our compacts with that Power will stand executed one moment longer than the Earl of Derby may conceive it to be for Britain's interest to observe them? None whatever. There is a right way and a wrong way of terminating treaties. Great Britain, to our mind, has this time chosen the wrong way. If we supinely assent to this method our compacts with that Power are not worth the parchment on which they are inscribed. And this is why we want safe passports supplied to Sir Ed-

Hancock. The bet is quite safe. In behalf of the boys of the District we beg to tender thanks to Mr. Hardenbergh, of New Jersey, and Mr. Carter Harrison, of Chicago, for their patriotic efforts in behalf of the fireristion. A Sioux Indian once saw a balloon to some Western city and immediately fell back dead. Now some ingenious fellow proposes to the Government that, for $10,000, he will drive the Indians out of the Black Hills with bal loops and sharp-shooters. The prospects now are that it will take five thousand men and about $5,000,000 to drive them into a peaceful

The poet of the Pittsburg Commercial reels off as follows:

Who's Hayes! Ask Sheridan and Crook; Ask Early, if you will; He saw him once at Cedar Creek— Again at Fisher Hill.

Who's Hayes? They well know who he is,

Mno's Hayes? They well know who he is,
In spite of feigned surprise;
But then, "where ignorance is bliss
"Tis folly to be wise."

Loud complaint is made that there has been so trilling an abatement in the rate of railroad excursion fare between Washington and Philadelphia. Although the distance is less than one hundred and forty wiles, the cost of an expursion hundred and forty miles, the cost of an excursion ticket is $7.50. Where is Col. Scott? Can he no do better by utilizing the Northern Central road—Philadelphia Slot.

Wake up, you, over there in Quakerdom You have not heard of the new enterprise started in this city by Col. S. R. Hamill, whereby one can go to the Centennial, luxuriate there for two days and return, all for the small sum of $10. Quaker City, you are behind the times by a large majority.

Twenty newspapers of the country claim to have been ahead in predicting the nomination of Hayes. But they are mistaken. William Allen has the honor of first naming the Buckeye President. When Noah was building the ark William happened around, and asking him where he proposed to land after he got affoat, Noah replied, "In a new world, William." To which old Fogborn, with prophetic language, said, "That looks a little The truth should be known at all Hazey."

Great men must die, and rich men are also gathered in from the scenes of this life's turmoils and pleasures to happier or holier fields. 'Twas but a few weeks ago that Uncle Rothschild passed over the river; a little later, Brother-in-law Stewart, and now Cousin James Laird has gone to judgment, leaving several millions behind. This reminds us that if Dr. Mary Walker had the disease that is afflicting the Prince of Wales, she, too, would long since have joined the innumerable caravan which is luxuriating in that mysterious realm where a return ticket don't count.

The story set affoat that Capt. Blackford, chief of the Capitol police, was implicated in a questionable transaction is now fully and emphatically denied. For many years the Captain has filled the position he now occupies, and during that time his career has been that of an efficient officer and honorable man. Hon, J. M. Glover, chairman of the Real Estate Pool Committee, makes a statement in the following card, which proves the faisity of the rumor:

In the Stor of the 21st instant it is stated that testimony has been given by several colored men that they were employed on the Capitol police force, and that they receipted for $80 mouthly pay, and that they only got $20, and that Blackford, chief of Capitol police, pocketed the remainder. Jeem it but just to Capt. Blackford to say that no gich testimony has been given before this committee in reference to him.

J. M. GLOVER,
Chairman Committee Real Estate Pool, D. C.

Thus far the Indian war in the Sloux country has proven disastrous to the United States troops. The outlook now is far from promising. The indications are that the war will incur a great expense, result in the loss of many valuable lives and inaugurate hostilities among the entire Slour nation. That this war is a grave mistake on the part of the Government there is not a scintilla of doubt. It was created upon a false basis, and has been prosecuted under improper impulses. We are just now being deafened by the shouts for economy, in the midst of which a war is inaugurated that will cost the Government perhaps millions of dollars. And what for! For nothing else than that men who have tarnished the truth and integrity of the Government should be protected in their open and

While, therefore, the presumption is that positive violation of sacred treaty stipulations existing between this Government and forty thousand Stoux. We say that this whole movement was conceived in wrong and is being executed in error. Before the gold hunters invaded the forbidden promits of the Black Hills the dusky proprietors of that country were at peace, and many of them were practicing the industries of civilization. Even after these adventurers had trespassed upon their lawful possessions the Sioux, believing that the Government would be true to its solemn promises to protect them against invasion curbed their anger and refrained from repel ing with the bullet and tomahawk the thiever who were robbing them of their game, their firewood and their mineral riches. Agerastrike the blow until white men, anxious to pro voke hostilities, shed the blood of some of their braves. 'Twas then they returned the compliment, and shed blood for blood. Satisfied with having secured revenge they again sought the paths of peace, and would until this day have remained upon their agency reservation had they not heard of the warlike preparations of the whites. The Indian warrior is no fool. Their scouts and spies are as skillful in the arts of war as are the white men. They comprehended the situation. They saw that war was inevitable; that the whites were de ermined to invade their country, and that the military was ordered to protect them in their great wrong. Thus forced to take the warrail, they left their peaceful camping-grounds, and the Government will find it very expen ive in getting them back again. This mill tary enterprise in the Black Hills is a mad enterprise, and a grievous injustice to the Indian.

The New York Sun says: "We learn on reons ble authority that an arrangement has cen completed by which a couple of months sence, when the political campaign gets hot is the Southwest, Lieutenant General Sherida will take the active command of the troop there, with his headquarters at New Orleans. This news breaks like pleasant music on the ear. It is the bright promise of better daysof days when the loval voters of the South can cast their ballots without being shot down n their tracks; of days when the elective rapchise can be exercised by all, white and clack, without the dread penalty which has oftherto followed, death : of days when in tice will be given to the colored people and unishment rendered to their persecutors.
